

Sir Zelman Cowen Universities Fund

Roger Sebel Hebrew University Medical Elective Term Fellowships

The Sir Zelman Cowen Universities Fund is a private, charitable foundation set up in 1978 and named in honour of Sir Zelman Cowen, Governor General of Australia 1977-1982. It has over the years contributed several million dollars in research funds to the University of Sydney and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem for medical and scientific research. Since 1999, the Fund has also supported a program of academic and student exchange between the two Universities.

As an extension of this program, in 2006, the Fund established fellowships to assist University of Sydney medical students to undertake their medical elective term at the Hebrew University.

These scholarships are known as the Roger Sebel Fellowships in recognition of the valuable contribution made to the work of the Fund by Mr Roger Sebel.

The Fellowships

- Two Fellowships will be granted annually.
- Each Fellowship will be valued at $3,500 to contribute towards travel and accommodation expenses.
- If in any one year, the Trustees deem a greater number of applicants to be equally worthy of support, they may at their discretion, split the total sum of $7,000 between that number of applicants which shall not number more than 4.
- On completion of their elective term, Fellowship recipients will be required to submit a brief report about their elective term.

Applications

- Applications should be made using the application form available from the Fund email: suefleavy@anatomy.usyd.edu.au or phone: 9351 6558.
- Applications should be returned to the Fund's Office by Friday 28 August 2009.
- Applications will be judged individually
- Successful applicants will be advised early in October 2009.
